

WCL Faculty Speak on "Virtual Currency: Emerging Legal and Regulatory Framework Under the Banking, Commercial, and Securities Law" featuring Professors Hilary Allen, Heather Hughes, and Jerry Comizio on October 4, 2020

Re

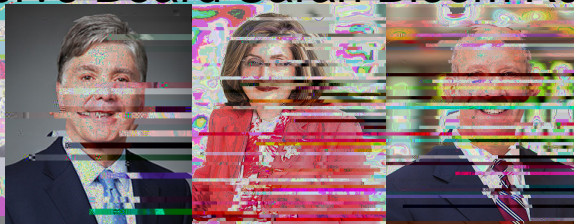

Reserve Board Sarah Bloom Raskin

on March 2, 2021

Reassessment of Financial and Regulatory Policy in the Age of COVID and Beyond with Former Deputy Secretary of the Treasury and Governor of the Federal Reserve Board Sarah Bloom Raskin

On October 22, 2020, Professor Jerry Comizio, Associate Director of the Business Law Program, moderated the discussion and was joined by Professor Padideh Alaoui, Director of International and Comparative Legal Studies, and Professor David Snyder, Director of the Business Law Program. Click here for more information.

ÒFormer SEC Chairs Speak: The SEC in the Biden AdministrationÓ

featuring Mary Jo White, Mary Schapiro, Elisse Walter, and moderated by Professor Hilary Allen

On December 11, 2020, Former SEC Chairs White, Schapiro, and Walter joined the Business Law Program at AUWCL for a discussion moderated by Professor Hilary Allen. The panelists offered their own perspectives and provided forecasts for developments in financial services policies under the Biden administration. You can view this webinar here.

Emerging Securities Regulation of Fintech Activities

with U.S. SEC Commissioner Hester Peirce and moderated by Professor Jerry Comizio

On March 2, 2021, the Business Law Program, in partnership with the AOWCE Brookman and Cryptocurrency Society, featured an interview with Commissioner Peirce. In the conversation moderated by Professor Jerry Comizio, Commissioner Peirce, who is well known for her views encouraging market innovation in virtual currency activities, shared her insights on a wide range of financial technology regulatory policy issues ranging from meme stock trading and social media to current SEC policies governing emerging virtual currency industry. You can view this webinar here.

ÒTalking FintechÓ